

FOR THE BEACH BAG

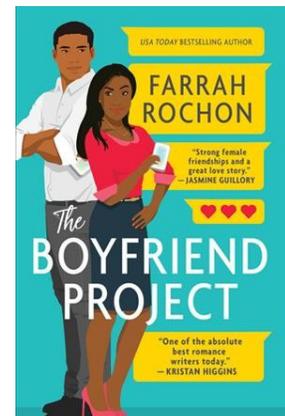

Kick back and relax with these light romantic comedies!

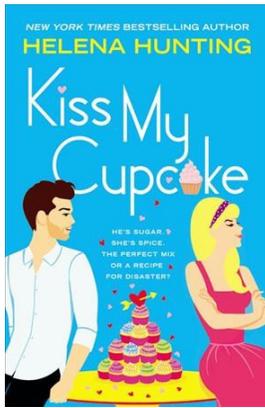

Carey Duncan has worked for design gurus Melissa and Rusty Tripp for ten years. With a new show and book about to launch, the Tripps are on the edge of stardom. Only one problem: they can't stand each other. James McCann was hired as a structural engineer, but both he and Carey have to go on tour with the toxic couple and keep them from killing each other. FIC LAUREN

When a live tweet of a horrific date reveals the dealings of an internet catfisher, Samiah Brooks and her friends make a pact to invest in themselves for the next six months -- no men, no dating. Of course, the success of the plan all depends on the appearance of a new guy in the office -- is he a little too good to be true? FIC ROCHON

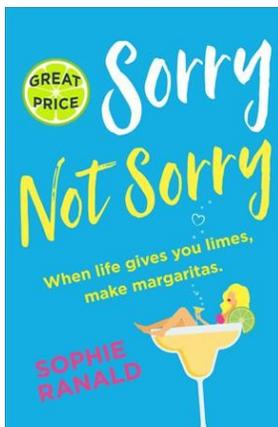

Tiffany Moore needs a place to live, so she answers an ad for a flatshare. Leon, a night shift worker, will take the flat during the day, and Tiffany can have it nights and weekends. They soon become friends via post-it notes, but falling love with your roomie is a bad idea, especially if you've never met. FIC O'LEARY

When a cupcake shop and a sports bar launch on the same day and sit next to each other -- axe throwing vs. frosting contests abound as Blaire and Ronan constantly try to one-up each other. But they band together when an even bigger threat to their businesses comes to town, making Blaire wonder if she can have her cupcake and eat it, too. FIC HUNTING

When her twin sister and new brother-in-law get food poisoning at their wedding, maid of honor Olive and her nemesis, best man Ethan, assume the role of newlyweds for a free Hawaii honeymoon. But the weird thing is, the more they pretend, the more it feels like the real thing! FIC LAUREN

The only company Charlotte's had in bed is the back catalog of Netflix, and falling in love feels like the stuff of fairy tales. So when she stumbles across the popular podcast Sorry Not Sorry, she decides to embrace her inner bad girl and jumps at the chance to shake things up. NEW FIC RANALD
